

Linen Mesh Undervests $1.00

THE ORIGINAL linen mesh undergarments, most people say the best, are Dr. Deimel's, and Dr. Deimel's undervests for women have always been $3.00 apiece. These are of that well-known brand. But there are not enough linen wearers in this community to warrant holding shelf room for garments in such slight demand, and present stock is to go now three pieces for the price of one.

In high neck short sleeve vests are all sizes—30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40; in low neck short sleeve styles are 30, 32 and 34; in high neck with long sleeves, size 30 only. While they last, these regular $3.00 undervests will sell at $1.00.

If what the maker says is true, that linen underwear is the best preventive for colds, this wouldn't be a bad time to begin wearing it.

TRAVELING LIBRARIES

A WORLD'S FAIR EXHIBIT

Features for Display of State Commission Are Prepared in the Capitol.

PAMPHLET IS PUBLISHED

Active work has begun at the library commission at the Statehouse in preparation of the commission's exhibit for the St. Louis exposition. Miss Merita Houshield is in charge of the work. Several traveling libraries will be placed on display at the world's fair. Books for these libraries are being selected and will represent the libraries being established by the commission throughout the State. A pamphlet showing its rapid growth in the few years will be distributed at the exposition.

MEDICAL "FRAT" TO COME TO THIS CITY

The next annual convention of the Phi Chi Fraternity, composed of physicians and medical students, will be held in this city next year. Dr. John P. Geis received a telegram from Louisville, where the convention is now being held, stating that an Indianapolis would be the next meeting place. Many of the most prominent physicians in the city are members of the fraternity.

Drew Revolver on Strikers

Robert Fowler, a foreman at the Udel works, North Indianapolis, was fined $1 and costs by Judge Whelan yesterday for drawing a deadly weapon. Fowler, with some men employed to take the places of strikers, was stopped by the strikers, when Fowler drew a revolver.

TRAINMAN KILLED, OTHERS HURT, WHEN CARS CRASH

Mistake in Orders to Crew of Freight Causes Fatal Collision on I. & V.

CARS BLOCK THE TRACK

Train Rushes to Danger While Brakeman Is Oblivious to Impending Death.

As a result of mistaken orders given the engineer, Isaac Bush, a brakeman on the I. & V. Road, was instantly killed and Daniel Brown, conductor, and Marcus L. Taylor, a brakeman, were injured in a wreck near Hicknell yesterday morning. The men lived in this city.

A cut of coal cars standing on a siding caused the wreck. The cut ran on the main track and was "side swiped" by an extra freight train. Several cars were derailed and traffic had been blocked. Owing to the mistake in the orders locating the wreck, the extra crashed into the derailed cars.

Bush lived at 9 South Temple avenue, and leaves a young widow and child ten weeks old. When railroad men notified the wife of the accident they told her he had been seriously injured and would be brought to this city on an unconscious condition. Suspecting the real truth, she was nearly prostrated.

Taylor lives at 64 North Keystone avenue and Brown boards on Beville avenue. Both men were brought to this city and taken to St. Vincent's Hospital. They are not seriously injured.

FORMER GOVERNOR IS SUED BY BARBER

Services During Trouble at Frankfort Are Charged to W. S. Taylor.

Former Governor W. S. Taylor, of Kentucky, has been made defendant in a suit for $30 filed by Russel Brown, a negro barber.

The plaintiff demands the money for services during the troubles succeeding Governor Goebel's assassination. It is charged that the ex-Governor's mountain body guard required the barber's attention before they could be made presentable. Brown says he did the work and demands $30 for his services. Brown now lives here and works on North Alabama street.

Regarding the suit Taylor's attorney, Charles A. Weather, made the following statement:

"In view of the fact that a partisan press has in a sensational way, given this undue prominence for the manifest purpose of injuring the defendant, I feel it not out of place to say that repeated attempts have heretofore been made to extort money from Governor Taylor and not wholly without success. Governor Taylor does not owe this man one cent on any account, I have no doubt."

INDIANA METHODS ARE MODEL OF OHIO

State Charities Board's Plan of Registration Is Copied in Adjoining State.

When the Indiana State Board of Charities was first organized it was planned after the Ohio State Board of Charities. The Indiana board, however, has made such rapid strides that the Ohio board is now following in its wake. Sometime ago officers of the Ohio board visited Indiana plans to secure ideas on the plans of construction to be carried out in their own State.

Secretary Butler received yesterday the annual report of the Ohio board, in which the secretary has recommended his board to adopt the methods of registration now used by the Board of Charities of this State. According to the methods each institution sends to the office of the board minute reports as to each inmate, thus furnishing valuable information both for the records of the office and for sociological study.

OCTOGENARIAN IS REMOVED BY DEATH

Mrs. Sarah J. Marshall Dies Here at the Age of Eighty-Three Years.

Mrs. Sarah Jane Marshall, aged eighty-three years, died of old age at the home of her son, George B. Marshall, 324 Central avenue, Tuesday night. Funeral services will be held at the house this morning and the body will be shipped to Greencastle for burial. There were eight children in the family, two of whom are still living. William H. De Motte, teacher in the Deaf and Dumb Institute in this city, and Mark L. Smith, former congressman and dean of the law department of the Normal University at Valparaiso.

Three children survive. They are William S. Marshall, of Pasadena, Cal., Union soldier, who helped dig the tunnel from Liberty prison during the Civil War; Sarah Frances Ferry, of Lafayette, and George B. Marshall, of this city.

BIG FOUR TRAINMEN ARE CHARGED WITH BURGLARY

Thefts of Meat from Refrigerator Cars Cause Arrests of Alleged Gang.

SLEUTHS WORK ON CASE

Charged with breaking into and stealing meat from a refrigerator car, P. H. Smith, Big Four freight conductor, and D. H. Duckworth and William Gable, brakemen employed by the railroad company, were arrested yesterday by Big Four Detectives McIntyre and Weintraut.

Smith was in charge of the train, and it is claimed the men broke into the car while the train was on the Belt. Since the arrest and conviction of several of the trainmen employed by the company for robbing cars, detectives have been hard at work in an effort to entirely stop the stealing, which is prevalent on the Indianapolis division.

WANTS A PLACE IN THE SECRET SERVICE

If Uncle Sam wants a recruit for the secret service Arnes Smith, of Chandler, Oklahoma Territory, is willing to take a place. Postmaster McGinnis receives many peculiar missives, but an application from the Oklahoma man for a place in the Secret Service Department is excused by but few.

Mr. Smith says, in his letter: "Please to the postmaster turn this over the secret office. I have heard of your secret employments by the government and thank that I would like to enter the well. Please give me the instructions."

Postoffice Inspector Fletcher is considering the application.

Telephone for Help

If you are in need of a position or desire to employ male or female help advertise in the Journal. If you are a subscriber to the Journal and do not find it convenient to call at the office you may telephone your advertisement and it will be charged to your account, 5 cents for each seven words or any part thereof.

EASTERN STOCKHOLDER MAY ENJOIN GAS TRUST

Trustees Refuse to Act for Him, with Federal Courts Only Recourse.

HANNA NAMED PRESIDENT

A communication, which may be the forerunner of an injunction suit in the Federal Court against the proposed Gas Trust Company, was received yesterday at the meeting of the board of trustees. The communication comes from Ferdinand Winter, A. C. Ayres, A. Q. Jones and John E. Hollett, as attorneys for Byron C. Quimby, a holder of certificates to the face value of $20.55. The communication requests the board of trustees to enjoin the company from converting the property into a plant for gas manufacture. The board of trustees refused to grant the request.

Byron C. Quimby is not a resident of this city. It is said that he lives in the East and bought his stock some time ago from an old stockholder. In view of the fact that the board refused his request, it is now a matter of speculation whether he will proceed to carry it into the Federal Court.

The board of trustees received two important communications from the board of directors yesterday afternoon. The first provided that directors and trustees join in testing the legality of manufacture of gas. The second, although it was not a matter of speculation whether he will proceed to carry it into the Federal Court.

ADDISON BYBEE DIES WHILE READING A PAPER

His Sudden Demise in Chicago a Shock to Many Indianapolis Friends.

Will be Buried Here

While he was reading a newspaper Tuesday evening at his home in Chicago, Addison Bybee, formerly of this city, gave a sudden exclamation and was dead of heart failure before members of his family could reach his side. The news of his death, when received here yesterday, caused surprise among his friends in this city, and was a shock to those who had been intimately associated with him.

For almost thirty years Mr. Bybee was identified with local business affairs. He was born in Ohio in 1835, and when thirty-eight years of age moved to this city. He assumed a position with the Woodburn-wheel works, and when that concern was absorbed by the American Wheel Company Mr. Bybee was its president. He possessed mechanical genius, and at the time of his death was engaged upon labor-saving machinery to be applied to wheel manufacture. He invented several attachments used in modern vehicle wheel, among them the "standard" hub.

A widow and four daughters survive him. The daughters are Mrs. Walter L. Milliken, 1514 North Pennsylvania street, this city; Mrs. S. H. West, of Los Angeles, Cal.; and Miss Louise Bybee.

The funeral will be held from the residence of his son-in-law, Walter L. Milliken, and interment will be in this city.

Mr. Bybee was a member of the Columbia and Country Clubs of this city, and had served as trustee of Purdue University.

Gas Company Incorporated.

Articles of incorporation of the City Gas Company of Washington, Ind., were filed yesterday at the office of the secretary of state. The company is capitalized at $50,000 and will establish a gas plant for the distribution of illuminating and heating gas to the city of Washington. The board of directors comprise Bascom Parker, of Niles, Mich.; Julius Dick and Enos T. Taylor, of Huntington.

TO OBSERVE DECENNIAL OF MANUAL TRAINING SCHOOL

Board of Education Will Join Students in Celebrating the Anniversary.

PUBLIC TO BE ADMITTED

The tenth birthday of the Manual Training High School will be celebrated by appropriate exercises in the school auditorium at 10 o'clock this morning. Principal Emmerich has prepared a programme which includes addresses by Mayor Hoffman, President Stone, of Purdue University, Superintendent of Schools Kendall and President Sweeney, of the Board of Education. Music will be furnished by the school orchestra. This programme will include the entire suite of "Antony and Cleopatra," by Grieg, and the "Anvil Chorus," by Verdi, and the "Stars and Stripes."

These exercises are for the parents of the students and the general public. Following them a banquet will be given, prepared by the cooking girls for the speakers and members of the School Board.

This evening the building will be thrown open to the public. Although the technical departments and the laboratories will not be working, there will be students there to explain the laboratory methods.

Large Audience at Revival.

An interesting sermon was preached at the Meridian-street M. E. Church last night by the Rev. Mr. Crossley on "Big Blunders."

The text was taken from Psalms ix, 10—"They that know thee are of the great and terrible in Him." The church was again well filled last night and many conversions are being made each evening.

GANG OF BOY BURGLARS DISCOVERED BY POLICE

Young Offenders Are Captured and Officers Learn Long List of Crimes.

WORK IN OTHER CITIES

With the arrest of Howard Elliott by Detectives Hauser and Larsh yesterday afternoon, officers believe they have broken up an organized gang of boy thieves, the members of which have served terms in the Reform School at Plainfield and are at present on parole from the institution.

The first member of the gang captured was Fred Smith, who was caught by Mrs. Robert Freund, as he, with Elliott, was burglarizing the store of her husband at Woodlawn avenue and East street Monday night.

Elliott escaped at the time, but Smith was held by the woman and her daughter until the arrival of the bicycle police.

When brought to police station Smith told the detectives the names of the other members of the gang and confessed to several burglaries they have committed. A negro named Jackson, arrested Tuesday night by Detectives Hauser and Larsh, and Merritt Beam, captured with Elliott yesterday, are said to belong to the gang.

Elliott and Jackson robbed Messing's ticket office some time ago, securing $25.50. Smith and Elliott went to Greensburg, where they robbed the clothing store of Clark & Co., taking several suits of clothes. From Greensburg the two went to Seelyville, where they stole a wagon and a horse. They returned to this city, where they sold the overcoats to Samuel Lebowitz, proprietor of a second-hand store on East Washington street. Lebowitz was arrested yesterday, charged with receiving stolen goods.

The police believe the gang robbed the store of the Standard Tea Company on North Alabama street, but the prisoners deny that they broke into the place. It is claimed that Beam "tipped" them off to where the money was kept, but after they had gained an entrance to the store, they were unable to find it.

VETERAN COMMERCIAL TRAVELER IS DEAD

Oscar F. Tousey Carries Grip for Same Firm for Nearly Two Decades.

Oscar Tousey, age seventy-two years, who was one of the oldest commercial travelers in the city, died yesterday morning at his home, 1840 Central avenue, after a brief illness. Funeral services will be held at the family residence Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Tousey, when twenty years of age, entered the store of Byram & Tousey, dry goods dealers, and remained with the house many years. Eighteen years ago he accepted a position as traveling salesman for Lewis Meier & Co., and was employed by the firm at the time of his death.

His widow, who was Miss C. F. Craft, of Lawrenceburg, William E. Tousey, a son living in this city, and Mrs. Francis M. Nichols, of Philadelphia, a daughter, survive.

SOLDIER WHO NEVER WORE COLLAR IS DEAD

Former Resident Passes Away in the Lafayette Military Home.

Godfrey Fredericks, formerly of this city, died yesterday at the Soldiers' Home in Lafayette. The address of his relatives in this city was not known, and the Indianapolis police were asked to locate them. Two daughters reside on Highland avenue, where he was notified of the death of their father.

Fredericks served throughout the civil war as a member of Company A, One hundred and forty-eighth Indiana Infantry. After the war he worked at the old rolling mills near Chicago, and the police force, was there. Crane says Fredericks never wore a collar and always had his shirt open at the neck. He was a giant in the cold days of winter he would step from the heat of the mill and walk to his home without a coat. He was a giant in strength.

RESIDENTS CAN'T AGREE ON CAR LINE EXTENSION

After Asking City for Route Property Owners Object to Any of Three Locations.

BOARD SHELVES MATTER

A knotty problem is presented to the Board of Public Works in the choice of a route for the proposed Pennsylvania street car line extension. Even Engineer Jupp is at a doubt in the matter. Three are proposed—along Pennsylvania street, Talbott avenue or Delaware street. Residents on the respective thoroughfares, however, have objected and there are other considerations to further complicate affairs.

The board did not postpone a decision yesterday and postponed the petition indefinitely. Property owners who want the extension must now get together and reach an agreement before the board will act further.

The opinion of the board that a concrete bridge should be built over Fall creek at Northwestern avenue is not shared by some residents in the vicinity of the bridge, who want a stone structure. On erection of the new bridge the board contemplates putting the old structure at Senate avenue, where a bridge over Fall creek is wanted.

L. N. Ritchie, representing the Indianapolis, Leansport & Chicago Railroad, a number of manufacturers owning property along Missouri street from Market street to Kentucky avenue, protested against paying that street at the section designated.

The L. & C. representative asks a postponement of the improvement for at least another month, when it expects to have plans for a Washington-street terminal building completed. He said that to do the work now would necessitate tearing up the street and the railroad starts work on its right of way. The matter was postponed until March 18.

DOORS OF UNION STATE HOSPITAL ARE CLOSED

Institution Treated Many Charity Patients and Profits Did Not Accrue.

The Union State Hospital, at Alabama and Michigan streets, was closed yesterday. It was announced last night that the closing of the hospital was caused by lack of funds with which to pay current expenses.

More charity patients were treated at the hospital than patients who could afford to pay and the institution was not a money-maker.

At a meeting of the board of directors, held recently, it was decided to close the hospital and formal announcement of this move was made yesterday.

Until about a year ago the hospital was at Fourteenth street and Capitol avenue. It was from this hospital that Miss Carrie Selvaie disappeared.

APPRAISERS FIX VALUE OF CONDEMNED LAND

Sum of $30,000 Will Be Expended for Acquiring Boulevard.

William Leedy, John Appel and Fred Sheppard, appraisers for the South Side boulevard, began yesterday with the surveying corps of the Park Board appraising the land that will have to be condemned.

A sum of $50,0
